SET IT AND FORGET IT: A SMARTER WAY TO PAY MONTHLY BILLS

Paying utilities and other household expenses does not have to involve mailing checks, tracking due dates, or worrying about a payment arriving late. For many recurring bills, your IMCU debit card or credit card can offer a quick and convenient alternative.

Put Routine Payments on Autopilot

Many utility providers, insurance companies, and mobile phone services allow customers to set up recurring debit card or credit card payments. Depending on the provider, you may be able to choose the payment schedule and authorize either a fixed amount or the balance due.

Once recurring payments are established, bills can be paid automatically on the agreed schedule. That means fewer checks to mail, fewer due dates to manage, and less chance of a late payment caused by postal delays.
