THE IMPORTANCE OF FINANCIAL LITERACY FOR GEN Z: EMPOWERING THE NEXT GENERATION

Although financial literacy is low among all generations, it is particularly low among Gen Z. According to Moneyzine, Gen Z has the lowest financial literacy rate among all generations, with only 25% answering basic financial questions accurately. As Gen Z steps into adulthood, financial decisions are becoming a part of everyday life—from managing student loans and credit cards to building savings, and exploring investment opportunities. Yet despite being one of the most tech-savvy and entrepreneurial generations, many Gen Z report feeling unprepared to make informed financial choices.

401(k)? YOU HAVE CHOICES!

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics a person has an average of 12 jobs in their lifetime. So, what do you do with your old 401(k) plan?
Indiana Members Investment Services can work with you to go over your options.

1. Leave the money in your old employers plan
2. Roll it over to your new employers plan
3. Roll it into an IRA
4. Cash it out

There are advantages and disadvantages to each option. A financial advisor will help by answering any questions you may have, allowing you to make a decision that aligns with your personal goals and preferences. Whether you recently left a job or just retired from one, Indiana Members Investment Services can guide you through the necessary steps.

Call 317.610.3945 or visit imcu.com to connect with a financial advisor today!
