BIG BELIEVERS IN PHILANTHROPY

NATIONAL PHILANTHROPY DAY IS NOVEMBER 15TH

Philanthropy may be a big word, but it describes a pretty simple idea. It's a term that describes the people and organizations who give their money and other resources to improve the lives of others. If you regularly donate to charitable organizations because you want to help others who are less fortunate, you're a philanthropist.

Putting philanthropy in action is an important part of our organization and as a member of Indiana Members Credit Union, you're a part of that. As a non-profit cooperative, our credit union subscribes to the seven cooperative principles, one of which is supporting the sustainable development of the communities we serve. Our credit union philosophy is built around the basic idea of People Helping People.

We do that in one way by helping you and your fellow members achieve financial security. By offering accounts and loans that allow you to make the most of your money, we make it easier to meet your daily needs while planning for the future. In addition, we created a philanthropic foundation called the Indiana Members Foundation, which has a specific goal of supporting learning and educational success for schoolchildren in Central Indiana.
