

Important advice for students

Student loan and financial planning checklist

in partnership with

You're probably leaving school with a combination of federal and private student loans—and each type has different features. This checklist and spreadsheet can help you keep track of what you need to know about each of your loans

- Get your FSA ID for access to the Federal Student Aid's online systems. Don't have it? Go to StudentAid.gov.
- Collect your federal and private student loan documents: promissory notes, lender/servicer communications, exit interview information, disclosures, statements, bills, emails, and letters. For federal loans, visit StudentAid.gov; for private loans, contact your lender/servicer.
- Know what you owe: Make a list of your loans, figure out whether they're federal or private, and write down your loan servicers and their contact info. The attached spreadsheet can help.

Need help? Locate your federal loans at StudentAid.gov; for private loans, request a copy of your credit report at AnnualCreditReport.com.
- Keep in touch: Update your contact info so you get important messages from your lender/servicer.
- Save time: Sign up to manage your account online so your lender/servicer can contact you by email.
- Save money: You may be able to lower your interest rate by signing up for auto debit. Plus, see if there are any other borrower benefits.
- Get the facts: Check with your lender/servicer to find out when your loans will enter repayment, what your monthly payments will be, and when they're due.
- Make a repayment plan:
 - For federal student loans, check out repayment options at StudentAid.gov.
 - For private student loans, contact your lender/servicer.
- Understand your options: If you're having trouble making payments, see if there are options like deferment, forbearance, and other forms of payment relief. For federal loans, visit StudentAid.gov; for private loans, contact your lender/servicer.
- Explore loan forgiveness for federal loans: Check with StudentAid.gov or your servicer to research loan discharge and forgiveness opportunities and conditions.
- Take advantage of student loan interest deductions: Consult your tax advisor or find more info at IRS.gov.

Important advice for students

Student loan and financial planning checklist

in partnership with

Track the information you'll need for your federal and private loans.

Tracking my loans

Type of loan	Servicer	Servicer contact info	Loan amount	Interest rate	Grace period (Yes or No)	Action date*

*Action date is the date you want to begin taking action on your loans. For instance, if you have a grace period, a possible action could be contacting your servicer 35-40 days prior to its expiration date. Or, if you don't have a grace period you may want to contact your servicer 35-40 days before your graduation date.

Sallie Mae does not provide, and these materials are not meant to convey, financial, tax, or legal advice. Consult your own financial advisor, tax advisor, or attorney about your specific circumstances. External links and third-party references are provided for informational purposes only. Sallie Mae cannot guarantee the accuracy of the information provided by any third parties, and Sallie Mae assumes no responsibility for any errors or omissions contained therein. Any copyrights, trademarks, and/or service marks used in these materials are the property of their respective owners.

© 2024 Sallie Mae Bank. All rights reserved. Sallie Mae, the Sallie Mae Logo, and other Sallie Mae names and logos are service marks or registered service marks of Sallie Mae Bank. All other names and logos used are the trademarks or service marks of their respective owners. SLM Corporation, including Sallie Mae Bank, are not sponsored by or agencies of the United States of America. W381000 0324